季考開始之日

平市飛機光顧燕大

機上地下揚手致意
表演多匪技術甚佳

考試的空氣緊壓着這一群燕大學生，昨天上午已經正式開始。枯燥和莊嚴也跟着開始。可是在十一點的時候，靜寂的校園上忽然有嗡嗡的聲音，坐在課室裏應考的學生，揚着頸兒望着窗外，恨不得也跑出去看看。圖書館和各宿舍門前堆滿了人，空中一架灰黃翼的平市飛機，正在校園上空飛行。嗡嗡的聲音，震得人們心弦撥着歡樂的曲子。飛機的身上繪着一個「3」字，翼上塗着黑徽，在博雅塔，未名湖上飛過，又直向貝公樓的屋脊上飛來。上面的兩個駕駛員聽見下面人在狂呼，特別低飛到貝公樓圖書館中間，向人揚了揚手表示致謝。一刻鐘裏表演了好幾次鯉魚翻身，看着好像要掉下來了，牠卻一揚頭，又飛了上去。末後散了許多「航空救國」的傳單，飛到西南方面去了。

鄭蔭蓀講中樂之沿革

百代公司特爲韶樂社灌片

本月七日下午五時，燕大音樂系假臨湖軒開中樂討論會，聽衆極爲踴躍。先由范天祥先生宣布開會理由及鄭蔭蓀先生演講「中樂之源流」後，即由各參加演奏者表演，其秩序如下：(一)鄭蔭蓀君古琴獨奏。(二)韶樂社社員合奏「雙星恨」。(三)古廷昌君西提琴獨奏。(四)范天祥先生鋼琴獨奏自撰中國樂曲數種。(五)任光君鋼琴獨奏「昭君怨」。(六)薛氏鋼琴獨奏中國樂曲三首。其中如鄭君之古琴及韶樂社合奏，均極精彩，尤以薛氏之獨奏最博得好評。

成立消費合作社

贊成者居多數

燕大當局向教職員徵詢意見
爲成立消費合作社問題，燕大校長辦公處日前發出通知，向各教職員徵詢意見，贊成者居多，茲將原函錄如左：
「茲爲本校師生日常生活消費問題上之便利，及經濟起見，特成立消費合作社籌備委員會，草擬計劃，惟此事關係本校校區之整個團體生活，自應邀請教職員參加，俾此合作社易於早日實現，爲特函請轉向各教職員徵求意見」等語，查「燕京大學消費合作社章程草案」已經學生會臨時維持委員會派員會同擬訂，並曾在上年十二月二十一日出版之「燕大旬刊」第四期消費問題特刊內刊佈，諒我教職員同人已經鑒及，該草案所擬合作社之營業，計分販賣及汽車兩處，其汽車處之組織，因問題複雜，同人或不易發表意見，至於販賣處之組織，如我教職員諸君，願予合作，即可以進行。惟該草案第二章規定，凡住校教職員皆爲合作社當然社員，又第三章規定，社員至少須認股一股(每股二元)此兩種之規定，應首先徵得我住校教職員全體之同意，方可正式確定，特此代爲徵詢意見，敬請將所附回信，即日填還，以便轉知學生會臨時維持委員會，俾其有所遵循也。

的漢英字典。所以要查一個字，把這個字在康熙字典裏寫好，就能讀出他的音，又可知道這個字在康熙字典裏，佩文韻府，及Giles的漢英字典三書上那一頁，那一韻，那一字。將來印出的書，就像這個樣子：

President J. L. Stuart to Leave for South

To Spend Vacation Making More Contacts in Behalf of Endowment Campaign

President J. Leighton Stuart leaves tomorrow for an extended trip through Central China during the vacation period. Main purpose of his journey will be to attend the Council of Higher Christian Education in China, which meets in Shanghai from January 29 to February 1. Dean Margaret B. Speer and Chancellor C. W. Luh will also attend that meeting.

In the meantime Dr. Stuart expects to devote most of his time to furthering the million dollar endowment campaign, and in addition to contacting alumni in Shanghai will also visit Hangchow, Nanking, and possibly Tsingtao. He expects to return to Yenching early in February.

For the first time he will carry with him several hundred feet of motion picture film taken by local amateurs and depicting various activities of Yenching. These pictures will be exhibited before alumni audiences in the cities he visits.

New "Shop Club" Formed; Three Groups Met Jan. 5

A fourth "Shop Club" is being formed in Yenching. It is expected that it will hold its first meeting in the early part of the second semester. Its membership roll has not yet been completed. It is hoped by the members of present clubs that at least a fifth club can be organized before the end of this year.

Each club has only one member from a department. They meet for lunch on the first Saturday of each month and each member is expected to read one paper a year on his or her specialty, to "talk shop" for the benefit of laymen in their respective fields. Last Saturday Miss Alice Boring spoke on "Twins" to Club Alpha at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Luh; Dr. L. C. Porter discussed recent works on philosophy after a lunch of Club Beta at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Wu, and H. E. Shadick outlined the work of I. A. Richards of Cambridge and his associates in the field of criticism after Gamma's lunch at the home of Miss Ch'en Yueh-mei.

Please Get Your Notices In

Those responsible for community undertakings, and official activities are reminded that the weekly issue of the News during January will be issued on Thursdays. Notices of any length should be sent to the Department of Journalism by noon on Wednesdays. Short notices and corrections are receivable until noon Thursdays at the Yenching Press.

Junior Middle School Students Have Their Activities Analyzed

Individual activities are more popular than group activities among the 60 students of the Junior Middle Practice School of Yenching, according to a recent study conducted by Mr. Liang Shu-hsiang, Senior in the Department of Education of Yenching. Athletic activities predominate.

A majority of the students enjoy one to two hours of play daily, the ten most popular recreational activities being basketball, bicycling, buoy-playing, chess, penmanship, singing, walking, novel-reading, newspaper-reading, and chatting.

Strange to say among Chinese students, only one out of sixty plays the erh-lu. The average number of different activities in which each student participates is 12.8. The aim of Mr. Liang's study was to collect first-hand material, and use it as an introduction to further research into the subject. He used chiefly the questionnaire method for gathering information.

Ta Lu Bus Co. Reduces Schedule During Weekdays

The reduced time table announced last week by the Ta Lu Bus Company has since been slightly revised so that the former "combined" schedule will be followed on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays.

However, from Monday to Friday inclusive only four busses will run each way per day. At Yenching the bus leaves on those days at 9:00 a.m., 11:00 a.m., 1:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. Yenching-bound busses leave the Y.M.C.A. at 8:00 a.m., 12 noon, 4:00 p.m., and 6:00 p.m.

Tsing Hua University is now being served exclusively by the Mei Fu Bus Company, since the Ta Lu concern has removed the Tsing Hua insignia from their busses.

Maxwell Stewart Becomes An Editor of The Nation

Maxwell S. Stewart, formerly a lecturer in English and of Sociology in Yenching, has recently become an associate editor of The Nation. Until October, 1934, Mr. Stewart was a research member of the staff of the Foreign Policy Association, and wrote many expert reports for its Bulletin concerning banking and international finance.

One of the most notable of his reports was entitled "Paradoxes of World Recovery," which was the subject of editorials in practically every important newspaper in the United States. The New York Times devoted a column on its front page to it, as well as two editorials during the weeks following its publication.

Mrs. Stewart will continue as a member of the Foreign Policy Association staff, being the secretary for the Student Committee. Another former Yenchingian now on the staff of the Association is T. A. Bisson, also a former lecturer in the Department of English here. Mr. Bisson covers the Far Eastern news for the F. P. A., and his articles may be seen in the Bulletin almost every week. One of his longer ones, "The New Status in the Pacific," was recently translated into Japanese. A more recent one is entitled "Japan's Trade Expansion." These articles are considered indispensable by students of Far Eastern affairs in the United States.

Sunday School for Four Classes

While an epidemic of whooping cough has led University physicians to advise against any large gathering of smaller children who might be liable to the disease, classes for the four groups of older children will be held at the regular Campus Sunday School this Sunday in Sage Hall at 9:30 a.m.

Yen Ch'ang Hao Is Ordered to Move Out

East Gate Store May Be Replaced by Faculty-Student Co-op Venture Later On

Pending the establishment of a cooperative store, both the university authorities and the student government have decided to notify Yen Ch'ang Company to stop its business on the campus. Two charges on the company have been made by students: first, the company has been selling "enemy" goods, and secondly, it sets selling prices too high.

The contract between the company, which is owned by some Yenching alumni, and the university is for five years. It will expire this month and will not be renewed.

Questions of establishing a cooperative store have been discussed by both students and faculty members in the third issue of the Tri-Monthly, published by the student body under the direction of a temporary committee. The university authorities have also sent a note to faculty members asking their opinions and suggestions on the matter.

The manager of the company said that he did not purposely sell "enemy" goods, but that he bought them from distributors in the city who guaranteed that they were not "enemy" goods. He also asserted that the selling prices have been set so high in order to compensate for loss from possibly bad debts. He said many students bought goods from the company on account. The company simply cannot prevent it, he said, because the students often receive the goods wanted and leave with only a word "chi chang". Within five years the amount of unpaid accounts has accumulated to about $3,000, according to the manager.

He further asserted that the company is glad to leave the campus, and will continue the business somewhere outside the east gate. Then selling prices can be set much lower than now, because no "chi chang" will be allowed, and the company will also save the $30 rent which has been paid monthly to the university, said the manager.

Faculty Group to Discuss Naval Race in the Pacific

Next Tuesday's faculty discussion group will consider the present international situation in the Pacific area, with particular reference to the policy that the United States should follow in naval construction. The group will meet as usual at President Stuart's home at 8 o'clock.

Although America's attitude will be the opening point of the discussion, all faculty members are invited to join in considering the problem, which is quite as vital to China and Great Britain as to the United States.

THE INWARD I

The days have been getting longer for almost three weeks now. That makes it seem as if winter is almost over. The season to those with indoor sedentary occupations is always more a matter of amount of daylight than it is of temperatures.

Last Installment on State of Ice

Incidentally, the lengthening days also mean that the sun is climbing back northward again, and the sun is getting higher in the middle of the day so that its rays are much more direct. Dean S.D. Wilson thinks that fact may explain why the sun "rots" the ice in February but not in December even on quite warm days.

Conversations with the science people about care of the ice has proved most interesting. You ought, for example, to get the records of the department of physics on the temperatures at all hours of day and night during the three winter months. They are quite different from what one would expect.

They've Had Some Arguments, Also

The fact which intrigued me more than any other is that the physicist tends to place the chief source of difficulty in a chemical condition of the water. One of the chemists on the other hand inclines to the belief that the physical state of the upper part of the ice creates friability. The material from sprinkling may not integrate thoroughly and successive layers may not permit the sun's rays to penetrate freely. The light is diffused and deflected by layers so that heat is absorbed by all sides of particles of dust and other foreign matter, thus damaging the surface more seriously, if this theory be correct.

The practical situation created seems to me to call for this: if the ice goes bad again weeks before it loses the strength to hold crowds, let's organize a public afternoon when all skaters will be asked to bring hoes, shovels, mattocks, and any other tools which will chop up the rotten surface, sweep the debris all away, and give the new surface a heavy fresh sprinkling. I repeat that the skating is too valuable a feature of community life to be lost for even a week's time if we can prevent it.

THE LETTER BOX

To whom it may concern:

The Yenching environment is driving me crazy. Since school opened this year noise after 11 p.m. plus my hot temper and sensitiveness to disturbance have deprived me of about 120 hours of sleep. It is impossible for me to get to sleep before midnight in my dormitory. I found this undermining my health and so went to the men's infirmary to recuperate.

But what happens in the infirmary? There, it is no better than in the dormitory. Fellow patients walked (it seemed like military drill) in the concrete hallways with their iron-heeled shoes day and night. According to regulation, the infirmary closes at 10 p.m. But one night an inconsiderate patient returned after that hour and cheerfully banged the door as he came in, waking me out of a sound sleep. My first impulse was to welcome him with violence of some kind, but I remembered that such behaviour might result in my premature departure from this university, from which I expect to graduate this year. I lost another hour of sleep before I decided that it would have been all right if he had not been violating a plainly stated rule.

Chancellor Luh assumes too much when he states (as he did in his New Year's greeting in the Yenching Hsin Wen) that Yenching students are law-abiding. To a certain extent Yenching students do "live together peacefully" because the habitual law-breakers follow their own selfish courses at the expense of those who tolerate their selfishness rather than break a rule themselves by retaliating with force, the only thing effective with such types.

We have the rules, as Chancellor Luh points out. Why not enforce them? Why allow the price of Yenching's peace to continue to be the self-respect of those students who really know that there are rules and customs based on consideration for others?

If many others feel as I do, it won't be long before we get to the point where we might feel competent to be our own judges in regard to gross violations of the rights of others. Unless the authorities would welcome an unpleasant incident growing out of this situation, I suggest action from higher up.

What does "The Inward I" think of this?

Yours Hot-temperedly,
Going Crazy.

Luh to Finish Lecture Series

Dr. C. W. Luh will give the last of his five lectures on the interpretation of Chinese poetry tonight at House 33 South Compound. He will speak at the usual time, 8:15 p.m. Designed mostly to give Westerners a comprehensive understanding of the vast field of Chinese poetry, the lectures have been very well attended throughout.
